Introduction

The first settlers came to this area in 1834. German Township, formed in 1839, was initially part of Lucas County but became part of Fulton County when established in 1850. As the county developed, German township was subdivided once and had two areas added to create its present size and configuration. Today, the township includes 52 sections of lands and is the largest township in Fulton County. The township includes the Village of Archbold, a portion of the CDP (Census Designated Place) of Pettisville (the rest is in Clinton Township) and the unincorporated communities of Elmira and Burlington.

The initial responsibilities of the township included the formation and supervision of township schools, poor and indigent assistance, supervision of the local constable and Justice of the Peace and election activities. Over the years, the township responsibilities expanded to include the creation and maintenance of township roads, ditches and drainage of the Great black swamp; soldiers' relief funds, welfare funds, community health and disease control; animal control including hunting, trapping, and fishing regulation; work relief; township cemetery lot sales, use and maintenance; and fire protection.

Today, the township staff maintains the ditches and 51.96 miles of roads in German Township. Additionally, the township purchases and maintains the Archbold Fire Department vehicles and equipment. The township consists of three elected Trustees and one elected Fiscal Officer. There are currently two full time staff personnel. The estimated funds to work with for 2013 is $2,040,098.27 with funding through tax levies, gasoline tax, real estate tax and local government from the State of Ohio.

Over the years, Township Trustees stored their unsorted records in a variety of locations and environment conditions allowing public access when requested. Over the years, environment issues such as inconstant temperatures, water and humidity exposure and pests have damaged some records but most remained stable.

On July 1, 2012, straight-line winds damaged the German Township building leaving the records more vulnerable to environmental damage than ever before. Working in conjunction with neighboring Sauder Village, staff moved the records to a secure location on the museum's complex. In addition, a partnership formed to sort, clean and process the records to provide proper storage and access for the collection once the township had repaired or replaced their building.

Scope/Content of Records

Since the formation of German Township on March 4, 1839, its Trustees have maintained their records for future generations. Today, these extensive records provide a valuable insight into the cultural, social, environmental, and community activities of this Northwest Ohio Township. The completeness of these records is unusual and offers us a more complete picture of early activities.

The historic records of German Township, dating from 1839-2003, include records relating to a wide variety of township activities such as area schools, tax and land records, orphans, cemeteries, road maintenance, and property assessment. The records in this collection are extensive and comprehensive with only a few gaps in information and include ledgers, correspondence, receipts, meeting minutes, forms and accounts that relate to township activities. Some Judicial records were separated previously from the main collection and are now a part of the collections of the Fulton County Historical Society in Wauseon Ohio.

Over the last nearly 175 years, these records have been stored in a variety of cabinets, boxes, and filing systems. As the quantity of records grew and space became limited, some older records were placed into Rubbermaid tubs for long-term storage. Additionally, environmental issues such as humidity, temperature and a nearby water heater contributed to the growth of mildew and mold on some of the records. Over a six-month period, all paper was cleaned using a hepa-filtered vacuum and Absorene book and paper cleaner to remove residual dirt, pest debris and mold and mildew debris. Items with mold and mildew issues were then treated with UV exposure as appropriate to kill active spore activity. Staff saved extensively damaged documents only when treatment options were available and the document no longer posed a risk to the overall collection.

This collection consists of 73 linear feet of records. It is stored in 101 acid free boxes with an additional fourteen oversized bound volumes that are not boxed.

Arrangement of Records

Due to the quantity of materials found in this collection, its arrangement proved quite challenging. The collection was broken into three parts: German Township Records, School Board Records and Oversized Documents and Bound Records. The German Township Records were further sorted by size (letter/ legal), and categories.
